

Artistic Appreciation, aesthetics & a new power duo in Harley Street

Nina Prisk

to-earth, focusses on breast enhancement surgery (enlargement, uplift and reduction), his signature 'hybrid' techniques using fat transfer, mummy makeovers and nips and tucks 'downstairs'. Recognised by Tatler, he is also the go-to guru for fat transfer to the face and specialises in nanofat techniques and regenerative medicine.

In contrast, Nina – a consummate professional with an amazing smile who immediately puts her clients at ease with practised reassurance – is the queen of non-surgical facial aesthetics and has a cult following for her lip treatments as well as her full facial rejuvenation and contouring treatments.

A love of art, stylish design, and a passion for aesthetics have brought Paul Banwell and Nina Prisk together in a collaboration which has set the aesthetic industry alight within the Capital.

Think skilled surgeon, Harvard Professor, author, martial artist, art collector and thought leader meets expert nurse, linguist, artist, musician, style queen, entrepreneur, ex-model and mother.

Both run highly successful clinical practices in the South East and Cornwall, respectively, but they have now joined forces to offer a full complement of cosmetic surgery, regenerative medicine and facial aesthetic services for their discerning London clientele. Glowing testimonials and word of mouth have already resulted in a steady stream of loyal patients from around the Home Counties and beyond.

'We like to provide a very personalised yet friendly and approachable service', comments Paul – a well-known, award-winning Plastic Surgeon – who set up the innovative 'Banwell Collective' in the Harley Street Hospital during the summer. 'We believe that providing a first-class patient experience is fundamental' adds Nina who has just been nominated as a Finalist in the Rising Star category in the prestigious National Aesthetics Awards.

The power duo consider their work to be very artistic in everything they do and view the face (or breasts or body) as a canvas to be worked upon to enhance beauty in a natural way. Paul, extremely professional but disarmingly friendly and down-

Paul Banwell

Her gentle touch, natural approach and legendary techniques with her microneedle means her skills are constantly in demand. Her portfolio of treatments is huge and she offers bespoke approaches to help volumise and contour the lips, cheeks, jaw and chin.

Not resting on their laurels, their infectious enthusiasm and boundless energy has now also extended into educating the next generation of aesthetic doctors and nurses (and a focus on patient safety) with their Banwell.Prisk School of Aesthetic Medicine. If that is not enough 2021 sees the launch of Paul's new lifestyle supplement brand, ARTIS London, and Nina's new MUSE lip care range as well as lecturing globally and more collaborations. ■

Nina Prisk

THE DETAILS

Consultations and treatments
by appointment

Nina Prisk

07305 355941

(@updateaesthetics)

Paul Banwell

01342 330302

(@paulbanwell)

paulebanwell.com
update-aesthetics.co.uk

Paul Banwell